Little

Books

Little Books

Delightful stories for the littlest of readers!

Little Books are aimed at kindergarten learners of English. The simple stories feature high frequency words, repetition and rhymes. The stories are based on topics which children love. The illustrations are colourful and attractive, making children want to listen.

There is a song which accompanies each reader, which children are sure to love singing.

There is also an activity page at the end of each book to consolidate the key vocabulary of the book.

The audio CD/CD ROM features an animated dramatised version of the story, with background music and songs.

Teacher's notes include a summary of each story, as well as ideas on how to present the books.

PRIMARY

Readers

PRIMARY Readers

Charming short stories which make reading both pleasurable and educational!

MM Publications Primary Readers are aimed at young learners of English. These charming short stories make reading both pleasurable and educational. All titles are available in British and American editions.

The stories have been carefully graded for six levels and make use of basic grammatical structures and vocabulary. Glossy, detailed illustrations on each page help to stimulate learners and facilitate understanding. Each Primary Reader is divided into four-page sections and each section is followed by two Activity Pages.

The Activity Pages include a variety of simple activities dealing with comprehension and vocabulary appearing in each section of the story. A picture glossary is also included.

A song, which is thematically linked to the story, is also included at the end of each Reader.

There is a Word List in alphabetical order at the back of the book.

The Teacher's Book consists of the Reader, the Activity Pages with overprinted answers and a section with Teacher's Notes which provide detailed lesson plans. The Teacher's Book offers a step-by-step approach and contains a list of pre- and post-reading activities, general, specific and prediction questions, ideas for projects, posters and games, etc., to encourage class participation and discussions.

Instructions for staging the story are provided in the Teacher's Book. There are also suggestions for costumes, as well as a list of props, additional tips and the actual script.

The Audio CD/CD-ROM, which features a fully-dramatised version of the story including music and sound effects, and a picture glossary, makes reading more pleasurable and is also useful for listening practice before learners actually read the text. It also includes the song which is played at the end of the story. Finally, a complete, uninterrupted rendering of the background music is included at the end of the CD for staging purposes. The CD-ROMs are compatible with Windows and Mac OS and are available in British and American English.

TEACHER'S NOTES

Primary Readers are designed to provide young learners of Primary level with enjoyable reading material. They are carefully graded and the language has been carefully chosen to ensure that the '5+' understanding of the text is not impeded by unnecessary and grammatical structures which are too advanced for their level. The story has been divided into six parts with two Activity Pages at the end of each part. A variety of exercises such as comprehension, vocabulary, writing, drawing, matching and hearing exercises, as well as games such as memory are included. The reader can be approached in various ways, depending on the level needed, the teacher's priorities and the time available. Some ideas on how to approach the reader, including suggested lesson plans and a number of extra pre-reading and post-reading activities are presented below. The material is recommended, whenever necessary, in an ESL/ESOL or a foreign language classroom.

Pre-reading activities:

It is advisable to give the '5+' interested in the story and answer the questions about the characters, places and themes before they actually start reading it.

It is also advisable to spend one lesson doing some pre-reading activities. You can select the activities that suit you best from the ideas presented below:

- Write the title of the story on the board. Ask the '5+' some general questions about the title and encourage them to guess what the story is about.
- Have the '5+' look at the cover of the book and ask them some general questions about it, e.g.
 - Can you identify the characters on the cover?
 - What kind of relationship?
 - How does the girl?
 - Where are they living?
 - What are they doing?

It is important to remember that, on this stage, you should not explain or repeat any of the '5+' hypothetical real events which actually happens in the story.

The shepherd boy runs to the tree, looking worried and pretends to climb it. The wolf chases the scared sheep around the stage.

Narrator: The next day, the shepherd boy is on the hill with his sheep. Mother is right. I'm going to be a good boy from now on. Suddenly, a hungry wolf jumps out from behind in the tree. Oh, no! It's the wolf! I need help!

Shepherd boy: The wolf is chasing the sheep. The shepherd boy climbs up a tree and shouts. Help! Help! A big bad wolf is eating my sheep! Quick! Help me! Woof! Woof!

Narrator: The wolf is chasing the sheep. The shepherd boy climbs up a tree and shouts. Help! Help! A big bad wolf is eating my sheep! Quick! Help me! Woof! Woof!

Shepherd boy:

Lights dim.

Scene Six

The lights come up. The tree and rock have been removed and the village backdrop is in place. There are two chairs downstage center (P1 control). The farmer and the old man are sitting on them. The farmer is reading a newspaper and the old man a book.

Narrator: But this time, the people in the village don't believe him and they just laugh.

Farmer: Did you hear the shepherd boy? Yes, he's playing games again. He likes to see us run up the hill, not this time!

Old man: Well, not this time!

Narrator: Soon it is dark. The shepherd boy goes home. Where are the sheep, Son?

Father: Oh, Dad, I am sorry! The big bad wolf came and chased our sheep. I should be help, but the people did not come. They did not believe me!

The two men then pick up their chairs and exit center (P1 control). The lights are dimmed again to signify that it is the evening. Then, the shepherd boy enters, downstage right and his mother and father enter downstage left and they meet center (P1 control) stage. Mother has her hands on her hips and looks worried.

TOP Readers

A fascinating new series of classic and original stories which are sure to capture the readers' imagination!

MM Publications Top Readers aspire to involve Ss from Beginner to Upper-Intermediate level in the study of literature and the exploitation of language through interesting texts. A multi-dimensional material which enables students to evolve as readers and listeners, but also speakers and writers. Famous classics, as well as intriguing original stories serve as stimuli both for students' linguistic and emotional development.

The Student's Book consists of the story and activities based on the story. The stories have been carefully adapted to suit the needs and knowledge of students of each level. Special care has been paid to the choice of vocabulary, grammatical structures, and text complexity so as to make the Reader appropriate for the students to handle. Each story is divided into 10 to 12 chapters followed by colourful, realistic illustrations which function as tools for stimulation and better understanding. There are two pages of activities for each chapter, including a variety of comprehension, vocabulary, speaking, and writing exercises. Students are asked to state their opinion on subjects posed by the text, predict what is going to happen in the following chapters, and work on interesting projects, enhancing their creativity and writing skills.

A separate, easy to use, multilingual glossary answers students' questions about unknown vocabulary.

The Teacher's Book includes factfiles with background information, summary, characters' descriptions, and also ideas for projects and enjoyable games. A step-by-step approach on every chapter is also provided, with pre-reading, while-reading, and after-reading suggestions for teaching. Revision tests and key to tests are also included.

The Audio CD contains a fully dramatised version of the story with music and sound effects which make this material an interesting and useful experience for students while helping them develop their listening skills.

CHAPTER 4

WE SPENT SEVERAL DAYS ROWING DOWN THE RIVER; ON TWO occasions we had to carry our canoes through the woods to avoid the dangerous rapids. One afternoon, we heard the sound of drums beating in the distance.

"What is that?" I asked.
 "War drums," replied Lord John. "I've heard them before."
 "Yes," said Gomez. "They're war drums... The Indians are watching us; they'll kill us if they can."

I turned to look at the dark green trees that surrounded us, imagining the eyes of the Indians upon us. The river was as still as glass and emerald in colour, and as we moved slowly along it, our paddles sent a thousand ripples across its shiny surface. Eventually, the sound of the drums faded away.

"No Indians here," said Gomez. "They're afraid of Curupirú."
 "That's the evil spirit of the cliffs," explained Lord John.
 I nodded, remembering my first conversation with Professor Challenger.

In time, the river became too shallow to navigate, so we hid our canoes in the bushes and continued the rest of our journey on foot. We filled our backpacks with guns, ammunition, blankets, food and other provisions, and made our way north. Two days later, we arrived at an open plain – the red cliffs were clearly visible in the distance.

"There are the cliffs!" I said.
 Professor Challenger smiled and said nothing. As we approached the cliffs, we saw trees and bushes on the summit, but no other signs of life. Exhausted from our journey, we set up camp at the foot of the cliffs, and went to sleep.

The next morning, we discussed how we were going to climb to the plateau at the top of the cliffs. "This side is too steep to climb," said Challenger, peering up at the cliffs. "We need to walk around the cliffs and look for a way up."

The ground at the foot of the cliffs was rocky and broken, and the going was slow and difficult. At around midday, we made a surprising discovery: an old, abandoned campsite. We found empty meat tins and bottles and a newspaper, the Chicago Democrat.

CHAPTER 1

Key to comprehension and vocabulary activities

1. 1. F 2. Y 3. F 4. F 5. Y
 2. 1. c 2. a 3. a 4. c 5. c
 3. 1. granted 2. Harpersons 3. pitch 4. fit 5. Mackintosh
 6. landlind
 4. 1. grined 2. affordable 3. blubber 4. fitting 5. tribe
 6. fortaue 7. devoured 8. reluctantly

Suggestions for follow-up activities

- 1) Open answer. Talk about the utilization and buildup of life at sea, especially with the means people had around the 19th century when the story takes place (e.g. bad weather, danger of sailing, vomiting, boredom, hard work, attacks from whales, capturing whalboats, etc.). Also, mention how rewarding new experiences and adventures on the voyage could be (e.g. meeting interesting people, learning a lot of things, facing a lot of challenges, visiting new places, etc.) and how profitable it could prove to be if it turned out well.
 2) Talk about whaling and refer to its banning today. With the help of the 9c, try to figure out why this is the case (refer to the Factfile 5 and use the information there to start a conversation).
 3) Open answer. Discuss the possible dangers that such a thing would include. Try to find situations in which sharing rooms with a stranger would be an unavoidable necessity (e.g. in a youth hostel, on a camping trip, etc.).
 4) Open answer. Do mention any endangered species they know of, and discuss the need to protect them in order to maintain a balance in nature and in the food chain as well as to preserve the environment.
 5) Open answer.

6) When you write a diary entry:

- Write a date on the upper right hand part of the page.
- Begin with Dear Diary.
- Write a paragraph describing the events that took place during the day in chronological order.
- Use Past Tenses (Past Simple, Past Continuous, Past Perfect Simple) to narrate the events. Be brief and accurate.
- Use punctuation, especially exclamation marks to show your emotions.

Suggested pre-reading activities

It is very important to get the students interested in the story and arouse their curiosity about the characters and places involved before they actually start reading it. For this purpose, you will need to spend one lesson doing some pre-reading activities. You can select the activities that suit you best from the ideas presented below.

- Write the title of the story on the board. Ask the students some general questions about the title and encourage them to make hypotheses about it, e.g.:
 - Who do you think Moby Dick is?
 - Have you heard of Moby Dick before?
 - Do you know of any other books by Herman Melville?
- Have the students look at the cover of the Reader and ask them some general questions about it, e.g.:
 - What do you see on the cover?
 - What is happening?
 - Where is the event taking place?
 - How do you think the people feel?
- Photocopy some of the illustrations in the Reader and remove the text and page numbers. Ask the students to describe them, guess what is happening and put them in the correct order. You can ask the students questions about each picture similar to the ones above in order to help them. It would be more effective to have students do these activities in pairs or small groups of 4. It is important to remember that at this stage you should not confirm or reject any of the students' hypotheses nor reveal what actually happens in the story.

Suggested lesson plan

If you decide to deal with one chapter in each lesson, you can follow the procedure described below. In this case, it is estimated that you will need about thirty minutes for each lesson. If classroom time is scarce, you can have students do most of the reading and activities at home.

Before reading each chapter

1. At the beginning of each lesson, revise the previous chapter and check the exercises which you have assigned for homework, except for the Follow-up and activities which will already have been discussed in class. Also, collect the students' written work (Follow-up activity 6). If you find that certain points have not been

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

WHITE FLAG.
 A white flag has two meanings. The first is when it is held up during a fight or war to talk about how to stop the fighting. Shooting at someone holding the white flag is a very bad thing to do and it is an act that gets punished. The second use is to put up a white flag to give in or surrender. This second use has existed since the time of the Han Empire in China and the Romans in Europe.

FORTS
 There are strong buildings with high walls, which are usually built on top of a hill to protect people from enemy attacks. People have built forts for thousands of years, and a variety of materials have been used. High walls, like the Great Wall of China, or famous castles, like the Kremlin in Russia, are actually types of forts.

SCURVY
 This is an illness caused by not having enough vitamin C in the body. It causes weakness, bad teeth and bleeding and can become very serious. In the old days, people who travelled at sea for a long time often suffered from scurvy. In 1753, however, it was discovered that fruit (especially lemons and oranges) help prevent scurvy and that men who could protect themselves by eating fresh fruit and vegetables.

Project: Character poster

Ask the students to choose one of the characters in the story and draw a picture of that character on a large sheet of paper. Ask them to write some sentences describing events in the story which the character was involved in, as well as their own opinion of the character in boxes or balloons around the picture.

Game: Who are we thinking about?

Divide the students into two groups. The students in the first group choose a character in the story. The students in the other group ask them a maximum of five Yes/No questions in order to find out who the character is. Alternatively, students can play this game in pairs.

Making the story into a comic strip

Photocopy some of the illustrations in the Reader and remove the text and page numbers. Divide the class into groups of three or four and distribute a few pictures at random to each group. Ask the students to write a couple of sentences on the back of each picture describing what is happening. Then, ask all the groups to work together to try and put the pictures in the correct order without looking at their books.

Once the pictures have been put in the correct order, ask the students to add information to them in order to make the story into a comic strip. Encourage the students to use speech and thought bubbles (for the characters' words and thoughts respectively) and give any additional information in balloons at the top or bottom of the pictures. These additions should not be too lengthy, so as not to cover the whole illustration.

Character card game

This game can be played by two to four players. You can divide the class into groups so that all the students can take part. Prepare two equal packs of cards. The cards in the first pack have the names of the characters in the story and the cards in the second pack have questions from the characters or facts about them.

Shuffle the cards in each pack and lay them face down in parallel rows. Each student may turn over one card from each row at a time. If the cards correspond in some way, e.g. a character's name and a question from that character, the student keeps both cards. If the cards do not

GRADED READERS

Enjoyable reading material providing a rich context for language practice. Exciting classic stories retold in a unique way and original stories which feature the cultures of English-speaking countries!

MM Publications Graded Readers provide learners from Beginner to Upper-Intermediate level with enjoyable reading material, while helping them to develop a variety of language skills. Delightful characters and exciting adventures provide the inspiration for our classic and contemporary stories.

The stories have been carefully graded for each level according to vocabulary, grammatical structures, sentence length and plot complexity so as to ensure that the students' understanding of the story is not impeded. Each story consists of 10 - 13 chapters. Wonderful full-colour illustrations, closely integrated with the text, stimulate learners and facilitate understanding. Each Reader in the series is accompanied by an Activity Book, a Teacher's Book and an audio CD.

The Activity Book includes a variety of exercises on each chapter, checking the comprehension of the chapter, practising new vocabulary and requiring the production of sentences or short paragraphs. There are also questions requiring learners to guess what will happen in the following chapter. At the back of the book, there is a number of exercises on the whole story, which help learners revise the plot, characters and key events of the story. Finally, a glossary aids students with unknown vocabulary.

The Teacher's Book consists of the Reader, the Activity Book with overprinted answers and a section with Teacher's Notes. In this section, background information is provided, as well as detailed lesson plans. A step-by-step approach is given, containing a list of pre- and post-reading activities, general, specific and prediction questions, ideas for projects, posters and games, etc., to encourage class participation and discussions. Revision Tests and a detailed marking scheme are also included.

The audio CD, which contains a fully dramatised version of the story, including music and sound effects, makes reading more pleasurable and is also useful for listening practice before learners read the text.

Packs which include the Reader, the Activity Book and the accompanying audio CD are also available.
